here you go?

She smiled the slightest bit. It lasted for a moment, and then it faded off her face, back into parted lips, the way she always looked and the way he liked her best. Their show was over; they could spend time alone now, without being pestered by the others.
He laid his guitar on the ground, folded his hands in his lap, aught her gaze, and held it.
"I still don't understand why Rocky's gone... I mean, he had no reason to go.", she mused, and he smiled.
"Maybe.... Just maybe though, babe, he was intimidated by you?"
"Could be..."
